

To what degree are you aware of LGBTQ students' health and safety needs abroad at your specific institution and/or organization? What evidence or 'data' do you have about this population in relation to their lived experience abroad? In what ways are you able to use this data to create strategies, policies, practices, and programs to create an inclusive and safe experience for LGBTQ students studying abroad?

In what ways does your institution and/or organization proactively seek ways to support LGBTQ students studying abroad to feel welcome and integrate into the host culture(s) and community/communities abroad? This may include the local university where the student is studying abroad, local NGOs where the student may be volunteering, the provider organization coordinating the students programmatic and academic experience, or with their host family or residence, etc.?

Given what you have learned during this e-learning short course, what are your next actionable steps to support the LGBTQ community towards their health and safety abroad?
